Sir,

A receipt was executed by the mortgagee of certain property for his having received the mortgage amount, viz, Rs 1,000/- in cash and Rs 500/- in promissory notes, from the mortgagor in full satisfaction of the mortgage debt. It also contained the statements that (1) the instrument of lease executed by the mortgagee, leasing the mortgaged house for rent to the mortgagor and (2)

(2) the agreement entered into by the mortgagor, agreeing to feed the mortgagee and his son in consideration of the rent, have both been cancelled by the mortgagor and that an iron safe valued at Rs 60/- has been presented by the mortgagee to the mortgagor's wife. Evidently this is not a mere receipt and as it was stamped only with one anna stamp, the Sub-registrar impounded the document and sent it to this office in October last for the levy of deficient duty and penalty. A deficient duty of Rs 16/- and a penalty of Rs 5/- were accordingly levied from the executor and credited in the Chemnapatna Taluk treasury on 31st January 1903. However, when I happened to go through the records in the last stage of the correspondence

I found that the deficient Stamp duty of Rs 16/- already levied was excessive and that the levy of the deficient stamps duty, as noted in the margin*, was proper. Deducting this amount viz Rs 6/- from the amount already recovered, I have decided that the balance should be refunded to the party. Hence I enclose a refund bill for Rs 10/- (Rupees ten only) drawn up in favour of the executor, Bhatte Ramiah and request that the Government may be moved to remedy the same.

2. To avoid delay, the document has been so certified and sent to the Sub Registrar for delivering it to the party.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

Deputy Commissioner

Sir,

In submitting, herewith, a copy of the document executed by Bhatte Bhatte Ramiah with all the papers Connected with the levy of the deficient stamp duty and penalty thereon, as called for in your docket No 1381 dated 30th November 1903, I have the honor to state that the enclosed records show that the stamps duty and penalty amounting to Rs 21/-, as as levied in the first instance was in the opinion of the Treasury Assistant Commissioner the proper duty leviable on the document. But as already explained in this office letter No 332 dated 1st July 1903, I happened to deal with the document in the last stage of the correspondence and found that a sum of Rs 10/- had been excessively levied on the instrument. I therefore resubmit the bill for favourable Consideration and sanction of Government.
